Spiritual Guide

I am Jocelyn. And I am grateful you're here.

My intention for this deck is to share with you my passions, the community I am building, and the opportunities for us to partner.

I especially love working with brands and organizations that genuinely care about intention and impact, and creating projects that matter.

So if this is you, I'd love to partner with you and expand further in conversation! :)

my passion

I am passionate about inspiring you to turn inward, encouraging you to practice self-awareness, and empowering you to believe in your Self.

I am a certified spiritual practitioner with almost ten years experience as an award-winning creative entrepreneur.

I co-founded an annual music festival in 2015 and founded a creative agency in 2018. Over the past decade, I have executive produced countless purposeful projects nationwide and now in recent years have been investing more deeply into my “personal brand”.

*I am a descendent of
ancestors.*

It is in my blood and spirit to honor and be of service to all living beings.

As I evolve and expand, the ways of which I am of service evolves and expands, too.

Most recently, in 2020, as I devoted my Self to cellular healing, I became a certified spiritual practitioner. A couple years later, I got my teacher certification for yin yoga, meditation, and breathwork.

my mission

I am on a mission to activate the higher potential, awaken the spirit, and expand the heart of millions through intentional content, experiences, spaces.

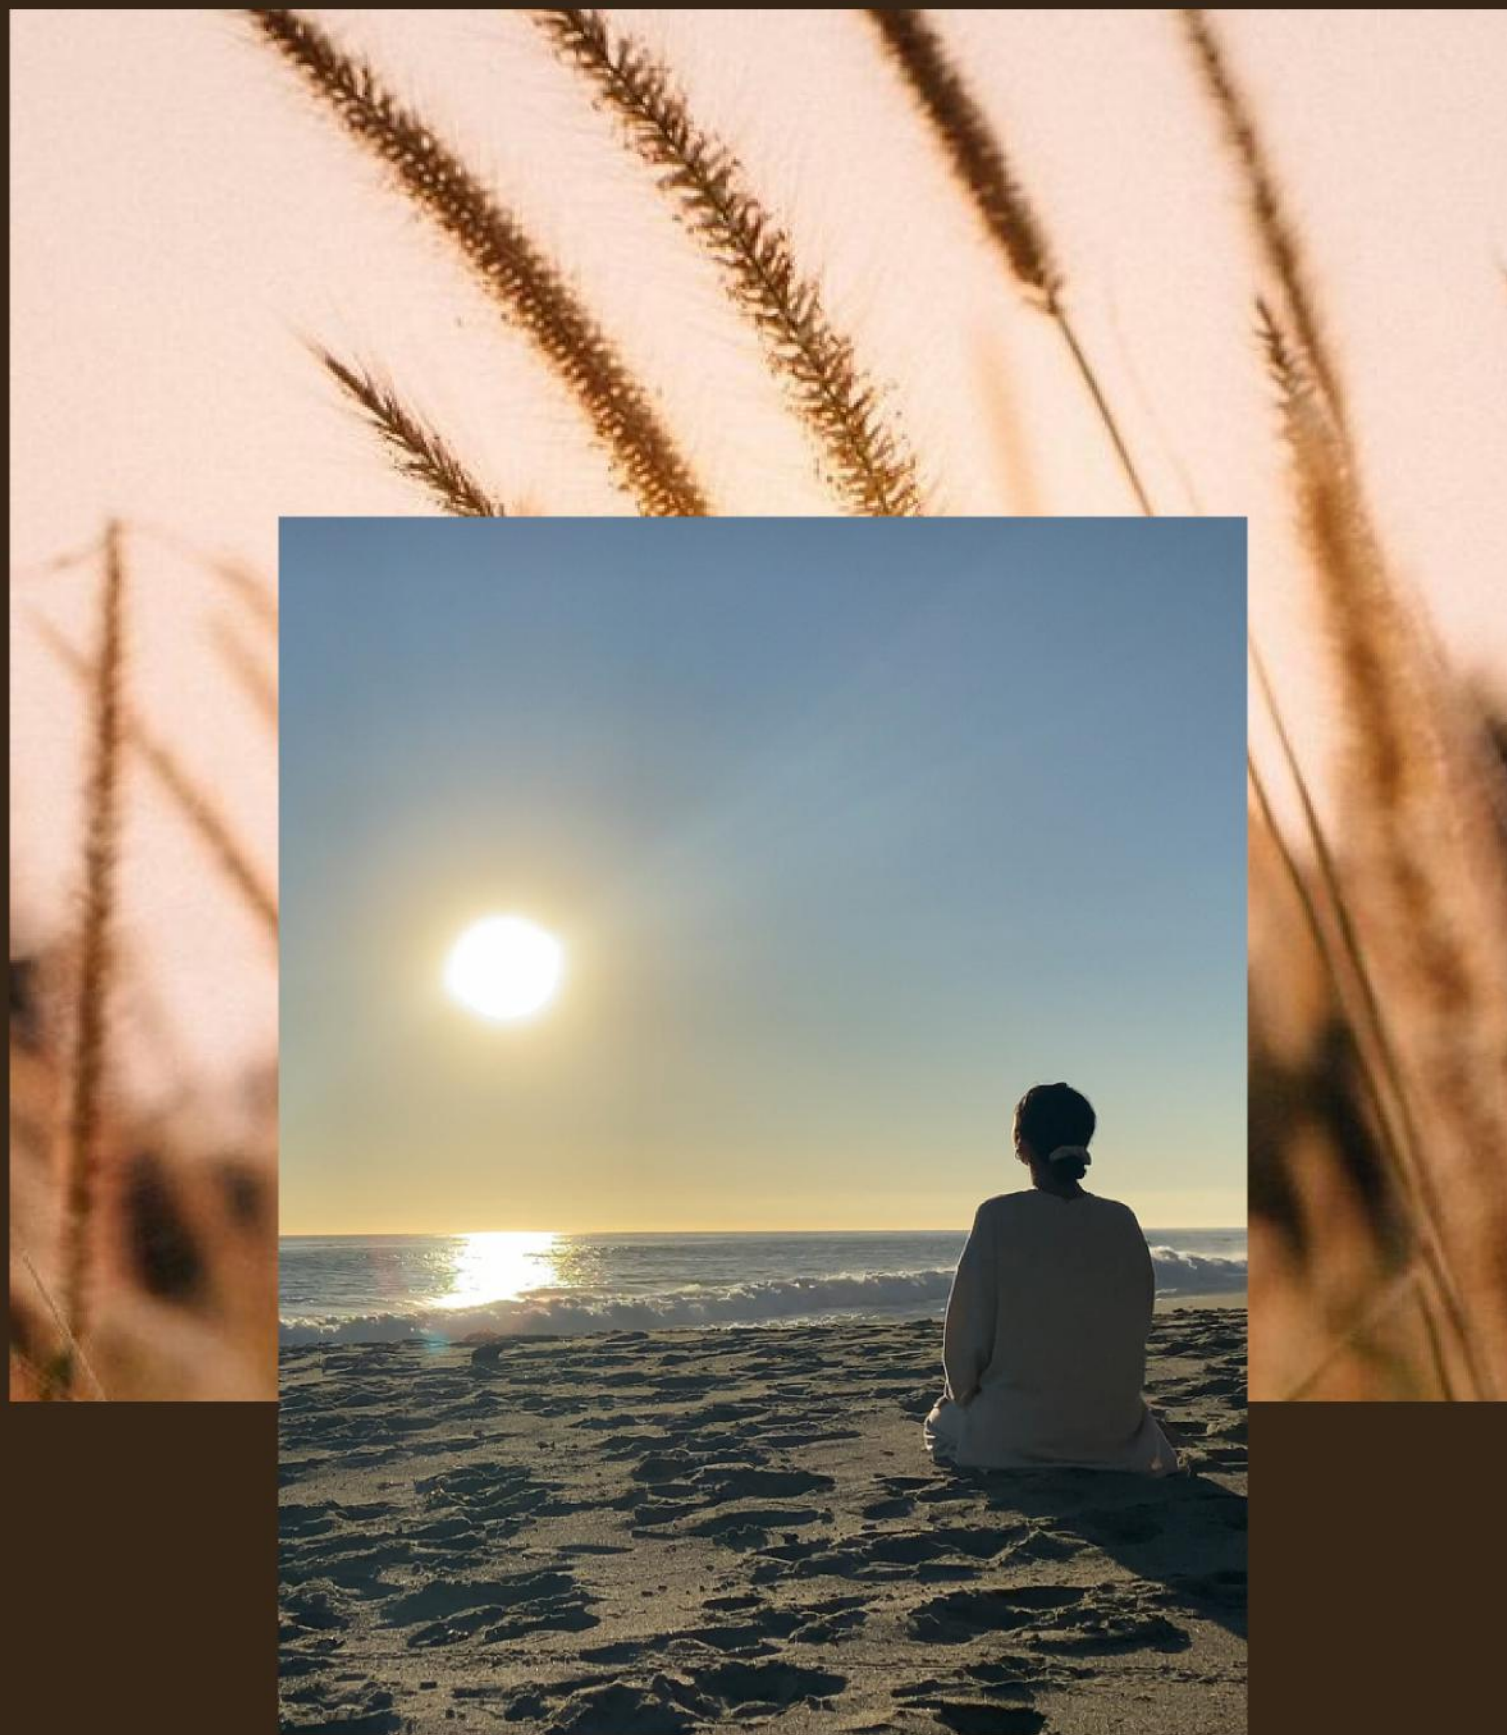

About My Community

People join my community because they resonate, remember, and realize their Higher Self.

Every platform I have created to reach my expanding community is dedicated to being resourceful and insightful for all those who are tuning into and desiring to ascend into their higher potentials.

My community members are people who feel eager and ready to expand their consciousness and reclaim their power.

The people who align to my community are open and receptive to new information, to transformation, and to exploring different ways of living and being.
